CHARLES-TOWN: Printed by PETER TIMOTHY, Printer to the Honourable the COMMONS HOUSE of ASSEMBLY, at the Printing-Office on the BAY, near the EXCHANGE.

BOSTON, JUNE 8.

The following is the concluſion of the Advertiſement by the Committee to the people of every town in this Government, with a paper which they are to ſign [as uſed to in Governor Gage's Proclamation of the 29th of June.]

THERE is but one way that we can conceive of, to prevent what is to be deprecated by all good men, and ought by all poſſible means to be prevented, viz. The horrors that muſt follow an open rupture between Great-Britain and her colonies; or on our part, a ſubjection to abſolute ſlavery: And that is by affecting the trade and intereſt of Great-Britain, ſo deeply, as ſhall induce her to withdraw her oppreſſive hand. There can be no doubt of our ſucceeding to the utmoſt of our wiſhes, if we univerſally come into a ſolemn league, not to import goods from Great-Britain, and not to buy any goods that ſhall hereafter be imported from thence, until our grievances ſhall be redreſſed. To theſe, or even to the leaſt of theſe ſhameful impoſitions, we truſt in God, our countrymen never will ſubmit.

We have received ſuch aſſurances from our brethren in every part of the province, of their readineſs to adopt ſuch meaſures as may be likely to ſave our country, that we have not the leaſt doubt of an almoſt univerſal agreement for this purpoſe; in confidence of this, we have drawn up a form of a covenant to be ſubſcribed by all adult perſons of both ſexes; which we have ſent to every town in the province, and that we might not give our enemies time to counteract us, we have endeavoured that every town ſhould be furniſhed with ſuch a copy on or before the fourteenth day of this month, and we earneſtly deſire that you would uſe your utmoſt endeavours that the ſubſcription paper may be filled up as ſoon as poſſible, that ſo they who are in expectation of overthrowing our liberties may be diſcouraged from proſecuting their wicked deſigns; as we look upon this the laſt and only method of preſerving our land from ſlavery without drenching it in blood, may God proſper every undertaking which tends to the ſalvation of his people. We are, &c.

Signed by order and in behalf of the Committee of Correſpondence for Boſton.

WILLIAM COOPER, Clk.

WE the ſubſcribers, inhabitants of the town of Having taken into our ſerious conſideration the precarious ſtate of the liberties of North-America, and more eſpecially the preſent diſtreſſed condition of this inſulted province, embarraſſed as it is by ſeveral acts of the Britiſh Parliament, tending to the entire ſubverſion of our natural and charter rights; among which is the act for blocking up the harbour of Boſton: And being fully ſenſible of our indiſpenſable duty to lay hold on every means in our power to preſerve and recover the much injured conſtitution of our country; and conſcious at the ſame time of no alternative between the horrors of ſlavery, or the carnage and deſolation of a civil war, but a ſuſpenſion of all commercial intercourſe with the iſland of Great-Britain, Do, in the preſence of God, ſolemnly and in good faith, covenant and engage with each other, 1ſt, That from henceforth we will ſuſpend all commercial intercourſe with the ſaid iſland of Great-Britain, until the ſaid act for blocking up the ſaid harbour be repealed, and a full reſtoration of our charter rights be obtained. And, 2dly, That there may be the leſs temptation to others to continue in the ſaid, now dangerous commerce, we do in like manner ſolemnly covenant that we will not buy, purchaſe or conſume, or ſuffer any perſon, by, for or under us to purchaſe or conſume, in any manner whatever, any goods, wares or merchandize which ſhall arrive in America from Great-Britain aforeſaid, from and after the laſt day of Auguſt next enſuing. And in order as much as in us lies to prevent our being interrupted and defeated in this only peaceable meaſure, entered into for the preſervation and recovery of our rights, we agree to break off all trade, commerce and dealings whatever with all perſons, who, prefering their own private intereſt to the ſalvation of their now periſhing country, ſhall ſtill continue to import goods from Great-Britain, or ſhall purchaſe of thoſe who do import, and never to renew any commerce or trade with them.

And, Whereas the promoting of induſtry, œconomy, arts and manufactures among ourſelves is of the laſt importance to the civil and religious welfare of a community; we engage,

3dly, That from and after the firſt day of October next enſuing, we will, neither by ourſelves, or any for, by, or under us, purchaſe or uſe any goods, wares, manufactures or merchandize, whatſoever or howſoever imported from Great-Britain, until the harbour of Boſton ſhall be opened, and our charter rights reſtored.

And, Laſtly, As a refuſal to come into any agreement which promiſes the deliverance of our country from the calamities it now feels, and which, like a torrent, areruſhing upon it with increaſing violence, muſt evince a diſpoſition inimical to, or criminally negligent of, the Common Safety:—We agree, that after this covenant has been offered to any perſon, and they refuſe to ſign it, we will conſider them in the ſame light as contumacious importers, and withdraw all commercial connections with them forever, and publiſh their names to the world.—Witneſs our hands, June 1774.

To WILLIAM VERNON TURNER,

WHO CALLS HIMSELF

A Practitioner in Phyſic and Chemiſtry, &c. &c.

THY ridiculous and pompous Advertiſement, which was publiſhed in Peter Timothy's laſt Gazette, hath drawn the Attention of this Town on thee, but not much to thy Advantage, I aſſure thee, therefore, as I know that few People hold thee in any Eſteem, I thought it my Duty, as a Man poſſeſſed of the Spirit of Benevolence, to inform thee of ſome of thy known Backſlidings, and to whiſper a little Advice into thine Ears, in Hopes thou mayeſt profit by it, for much doſt thou ſtand in need of good Counſel, which, therefore, take in its proper Senſe, it being intended for thy Benefit.

Thou knoweſt, that thou wert connected with ſome Gentlemen here, who now have Reaſon to entertain the moſt contemptible Opinion of thy Induſtry, Judgment, Veracity, and which is worſe of thy ——: One therefore, would have thought, Friend Turner, that, after having impoſed thyſelf on them, for being a Perſon ſkilled in Ores and the Separation of Metals, and at the ſame Time aſſuring them, that thou kneweſt where ſeveral valuable Mines lay; I ſay, William, that after having duped them, by thy falſe but plauſible Pretenſions to Science in that Way, and put them to a vaſt Expence, of which thou alone now reapeſt the Benefit, it might have been expected, after they had diſmiſſed thee from their Service, in a Manner not much to thy Credit, that thou wouldſt by this Inſtance of their Scorn, have been taught a Leſſon of Modeſty and Reſerve, as to thy Conduct for the Future:—But the Reverſe is the Caſe; elſe, with all the Effrontery, which is natural to thee, thou oughteſt to have repreſſed the foolish Conceit thou entertaineſt of thyſelf, and acted with more Caution, unleſs thou vainly thoughteſt that the People of this Province, were either mad or fooliſh, to truſt themſelves to thy deſpicable Judgment, in a Matter of ſuch high Concern, as Life or Health is.

Pray Friend Turner, art thou the Man whom the Cherokee Indians, in Derſion nick-named the Mad Doctor, during thy Sojournment amongſt thoſe People of the Wilderneſs: At that Time, thy Face was debauched with Bear's Oil and Paint, thy Hair fantaſtically ornamented with Feathers, whereby thou wert not to be diſtinguiſhed from themſelves, otherwiſe, than that they diſdained to work, whereas thou leadſt a Pack-Horſe by the Halter.—But, verily William, thou art now become the Daw in the Fable, which expected to paſs amongſt better Company than herſelf, for a Bird of fine Feathers, by borrowing the gaudy Plumage of other Fowls; for thou haſt the conſummate Vanity ſo to array thyſelf in ſilken Apparel, and other ſuch expenſive Embelliſhments of thy outward Man, that, at firſt Sight thy moſt intimate Acquaintances do not know thee: But, as thou art an Adventurer of an uncommon Caſt, and one who never acts without ſome ſelfiſh Motives, it is quite probable, that by thus decking thyſelf with coſtly Raiment, thou mayeſt have it in View to captivate ſome unwary Maiden of Fortune; for, to this Sex thou ſeemeſt in a particular Manner to addreſs thyſelf in thy boaſting Advertiſement; But, unthinking muſt ſhe, indeed, be, who would be enſnared by the fulſome Compliments which thou never faileſt to pay thyſelf on all Occaſions, without her remarking on thy Emptineſs and Folly.

It is but a few Weeks ago, that we were favoured with a Viſit from Doct. Robert Gordon, a Brother Pretender of thine; but he was a modeſt Man, who propoſed to cure a few Diſeaſes only, and ſo far as I have heard, he hoiſted none of the numerous Patients who came to conſult him whilſt he ſtrutted on his Stage, otherwiſe than by lightening their Pockets of a little Money; but thou, Friend Turner, art a Quack of a higher Character; for, if thy own Word is to be taken, thou art not only inſtructed in the Knowledge of Diſeaſes, and the Remedies which are proper for removing them, but alſo in Chemiſtry. However, before thou ſetteſt about any Operations in the latter Way, whoever may be thy Landlord, I would adviſe him to inſure his Houſe againſt Accidents from Fire; for verily William, thou ſpeakeſt the Thing that is not.

As to the Manner in which thy boaſted Knowledge has been acquired, thou honeſtly telleſt us, that for the Space of four or five Years thou didſt ſtudy Botany and the Practice of Phyſic in the Cherokee Country: But, not content with having thyſelf initiated into all the choiceſt Secrets of ſuch reſpectable and learned Practitioners as the Cherokee Indians are known to be, and being determined like another Pythagoras, to make thyſelf Maſter of the Wiſdom that is neceſſary to the moſt conſummate Phyſician, thou didſt paſs over the vaſt Ocean to London, and ſtaid there five or ſix Months; during this long Period, thou telleſt us that thou wert the Pupil of Dr. Michael Morris, a Perſonage no Doubt of great Merit, for he is dignified with as many Titles as the King of Spain claims in his moſt ſonorous Treaties. In that great City, thou likewiſe didſt attend the Lectures of the famous Dr. Hunter, Man-midwife to the Queen, whence thou wouldſt have us to believe thou art a Man-midwife; moreover, thou wert a Pupil to John Hunter, Profeſſor of Anatomy, &c. ſo thou art certainly an expert Anatomiſt: Beſides all theſe extraordinary Advantages, thou hadſt Inſtructions in the Medical Art from Phyſicians of the firſt Note in London, &c. Stiled, among the Cherokees—Really Friend William, thou haſt always been happy in keeping the beſt Company wherever thou wenteſt, both in America and in England; ſo that it is no Wonder if thy Improvements have been great.—What we cannot enough admire, is the uncommon Strength of thy Genius, which enabled thee in ſo ſhort a Time to be thoroughly qualified for the Exerciſe of one of the moſt difficult Profeſſions, with ſuch Aſſurances of Succeſs; whereas, others of more moderate Capacities find themſelves but too frequently puzzled in it, be their Ages ever ſo long.

But, prithee William, what Occaſion hadſt thou to perplex thyſelf with ſo complete an Engliſh Education, after having ſtudied ſo many Years amongſt thoſe Gymnoſophiſts the Cherokee Indians, from whom thou procureſt above Two Hundred choice Preſcriptions: Or, if any of theſe valuable Secrets were communicated to thee by Phyſicians of the firſt Note in London, pray, Friend, did they at the ſame Time infuſe ſuch Skill and Wiſdom into thee as might enable thee to know when and how to apply them properly. On the Whole, Friend Turner, thou intendeſt to ſtrike a bold Stroke, and to ſoar by many Degrees higher than any of thy Brother Empiricks did in Britain, whether they vaulted on a Stage, or rode in a Chariot. However, ſhould any Perſon, more eſpecially of the Fair Sex, be ſo credulous to truſt him or herſelf to thy Care, keep the ſixth Command in thy Memory; and alſo that thou mayeſt get a few Pence by their Temerity, do not forget the Life of a human Creature is then at thy Diſpoſal. If I have ſpoken any unwelcome Truths to thee, the Blame is thine, who intendeſt to impoſe thyſelf on the Inhabitants of this Place, for be not what thou art not; and therefore, it is hoped thou wilt ſink again into thy former Obſcurity, where it will not be in thy Power to do much Miſchief; ſo wiſheth thy Friend for the Sake of this Community.

JEREMIAH.

To the PUBLIC.

William Vernon Turner,

Practitioner in Phyſic, Chemiſtry, &c. &c.

A Pupil under Dr. Michael Morris, Fludger-Street, London, Phyſician to his Majeſty's Army and the Weſtminſter Infirmary, Chemiſt to, and Fellow of the Royal Society, and the Society of Arts, Fellow of the Royal Academy of Sciences, &c. &c. &c. likewiſe attended the Lectures of the famous Dr. Hunter, Man-midwife to the Queen, and John Hunter, Profeſſor of Anatomy, and chief Surgeon to St. George's-Hoſpital; and to the Advantages of having received Inſtructions in the Medical Art, from Phyſicians of the firſt Note in London, &c. is joined a Knowledge of the American Medicinal Roots, Herbs, &c. &c. acquired in the Space of four or five Years, from a People, that in a Length of Time, have experienced and made themſelves Maſters of this uſeful Knowledge, which no Book as yet extant can teach, nor all the pompous Parade of affected Learning can overſet.—Nature in her ſimple Dreſs, generally affords what will give the ſure and ſafeſt Relief: No ſtronger Proofs need be required, than what is at preſent publickly known of a few Roots, Herbs, &c. and their Virtues, peculiar to this and the adjacent Provinces, and the many amazing Cures performed ſolely by them, after the moſt ſkilful and judicious in the Medical Art, both here and in Europe, have in vain tried all the known efficacious compound Medicines of the Shops without any apparent good Effect; but thus far may be boldly ſaid in Favour of America, that no other Country in the World can boaſt of the like Advantages.——America is the bleſſed Country, the laſt reſerved Spot for earthly Happineſs, which the Supreme Being ſeems deſignedly to have kept for the latter Ages; ſtored with every Neceſſary for Life in ſuper-abundance, the Earth yielding Food ſpontaneouſly for Man, and Medicinal Roots, Herbs, &c. with Virtues that the moſt knowing in the Phyſical Art, have denied Nature to have in her Stores; Virtues that will relieve the endearing and lovely Sex from the moſt excruciating Pains;—this is a Diſcovery which more ſtrongly binds us to give Thanks to the wiſe Creator of all Things, for placing us in a Country where we can procure that which will give immediate Relief and Eaſe to the lovely Fair in Diſtreſs, which ever ought to be our chieſeſt Care and Study to procure, for the Source of our earthly Happineſs. The many Advantages derived to Countries from natural Enquiries, are obvious to all; but where others have reaped One, America may a Thouſand;—It is the Duty of every Individual that is in the leaſt capable, to ſtudy more or leſs, for the general Good of the Country that he lives in, as a Return for the many Benefits he may have reaped from that Country: He that has it in his Power, and adheres not to this Maxim, may be juſtly termed a Wretch who has received the greateſt Benefits from another, and yet would ſtand by and ſee that Reliever of his Wants, ſtabbed to the Heart by a Ruffian, and not offer him the leaſt Aſſiſtance.

I am happy to have it in my Power to make public for the general Good, more than Two Hundred Phyſical Roots and Herbs, with Gums, Balſams, Foſſils, &c. &c. each with experienced Virtues, not made Mention of by any Phyſical or Botanick Writers; with numerous other uſeful Diſcoveries of the utmoſt Conſequence for further Improvements to the Arts, Manufactures, &c.

Soliciting the Favours of my Friends and the Public, I take this Opportunity to inform them, that I have entered into Co-partnership with SAMUEL JOHNSON, Practitioner in Physick and Surgery,

UNDER THE FIRM OF

JOHNSON & TURNER;

And every Favour will be gratefully received at the House lately occupied by Mr. Peter Valton, in King-Street, by their most humble Servants.
